Things to Do

- Washington Square Park - Washington Square Arch, modeled after Paris' Arc de Triomphe. Great to walk around and quite often protests, events, art fairs, movies under stars.
- NYU – the campus covers all of Greenwich Village and you will see signs and buildings everywhere. Many stores and restaurants cater to the college crowd
- NoHo - Abundance of nightlife & restaurants, and many shops offering one-of-a-kind designer goods. Often where up and coming designers open their first clothing, jewelry and leather goods boutiques before they become super-famous.
- Village Alliance Information Booth - the Ruth Wittenberg Triangle on 6th Avenue, between West 9th St. & Greenwich Avenue. Free seasonal Greenwich Village tours.

Restaurants

- Pommes Frites – grab and go Belgian Fries, served in paper cones, with a choice of 30 sauces. So good - easy, fast, cheap! 128 Macdougall St.
- Tomoe Sushi - (172 Thompson St) - long lines, but some of the best and reasonably priced sushi in NYC
- Five Points (31 Great Jones St/Lafayette) – great brunch spot, also serving lunch and dinner. Wonderfully Zen décor, a waterfall in the middle and mostly good (not always, especially before I’ve had my coffee) service.
- Il Buco (53 Great Jones St) - authentic Italian and Mediterranean with communal tables. The type of place locals go 2x a week and for sure for Sunday dinner.
- La Esquina (114 Kenmare, Centre St) – on the outside, a dive Mexican taco stand, but inside (once you walk through the kitchen), one of the hottest and secret restaurants and nightlife in all of Manhattan.

Shopping

- Many tiny, original and unique boutiques line the streets on Mulberry, Mott and Elizabeth Streets. Don't expect brand names (ie, chain stores), but original high-end designers, many of whom go on to become household brand names. Much cooler than fake, illegal bags on Canal Street.

Hotels

- Cooper Square Hotel (25 Cooper Sq/ Bowery) – very modern, all glass building. Great 2nd floor lobby bar and 3 kinds of robes in each room.
